

February 2014

Travel through space with Terre & Océans.

The idea may make you smile or dream, but Terre & Océans is offering guests the opportunity to admire the earth from the comfort of a luxury aerial gondola. For this unforgettable trip, at an altitude of 36 kilometers, the passengers of the Bloon – the flight system – will be able to contemplate the blue planet whilst comfortably seated in front of a panoramic window while sipping on their favorite drink, 1 400 km away from the Earth. For such a trip, there isn't even any need to train for months or to be fond of extreme sensations. Inflated by helium, the balloon reaches its stratospheric position without much acceleration or supersonic speed. As for the return to earth, the use of guided parachutes ensures a safe re-entry into the atmosphere. However, the price of the trip is something from the wildest dreams of Jules Verne: 110 000 euros per person. Starting in Fall 2014 near Barcelona.

www.terres-oceans.com